Port canal grows, stumps gum works

Failure of their contractor
L. S. Stockstill of Baton Rouge, La., to stay within his original contract time limits may force the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission to take action against him.

A contract in the amount of $44,768.80 for clearing and grubbing was awarded Stock-still on Jan. 27, 1967. Completion date was given as Aug.
31, 1967. As of Feb. 1, 1968, with the contract estimated by Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., the commission's engineers, to be 98 per cent complete, clearing and grubbing operations were already 160 days over allowed contract time.

A $65,000 contract was let on Jan. 18, 1967, to Bauer
Dredging Co. of Port Lavaca, Tex. This was for both dyke and dredge work.

Bauer completed building the dyke and brought in his dredge, digging channel from the east to the northwest end of the project.

A change order issued last month by the commission cut the dredge's northward passage off short, turning him in a coastal direction.

Stockstill's failure to completely grub the area in question for the future public dock, now became a matter of extreme urgency.

Gum tree stumps, whose location properties are described as doubtful, still impose a problem.

If Stockstill fails to get them cleared prior to the dredge arrival at that point, estimated to be four to five working days, then the dredge may have to sit idle until it can begin work. On the other hand if the dredge men agree to undercut the stumps and have Stockstill catch them off and when they float free, then the delay will be lessened.

Another possibility is that a deal could be negotiated with the dredgers to handle the stump problem.

Commissioners however decided against becoming involved. They suggested Stock-still attempt to work a deal with Bauer or have the stumps removed in time as if the dredge is held up Stockstill may have to pay damages.

In view of possible court
action the commission also refrained from mailing any informal progress payment to Stockstill. They did however approve two claim checks.

Claim checks B covered four payments to Michael Baker, Jr.,

Govan blaze climaxes hectic week of fires

A fire in a warehouse next to her home on Clinton Street resulted in a $1,000 loss to Mary Govan in the most curious of a rash of fires in the city this week.

No official cause of the fire was given but the warehouse blaze although Mrs. Govan said she saw a man running from the building moments before she saw flames. She said the man jumped her back yard fence and ran back to where he could firmly establish his identity.

On Saturday a garage fire at a house on North Beach, owned by St. Agnes' Convent, got out of control and burned part of the dwelling. Firemen could pull the flames. At 2:30 p.m. the same day

The Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School District was informed Monday that all forms of federal financial assistance to its schools are terminated.

The order was ordered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in the matter of Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School District and the State Board of Education of Mississippi, respondent under date of February 6, 1968. This initial decision is stated in the order to be "subject to appeal and further proceedings as provided in governing statutes and regulations".

As of the Echo's press time, local school authorities had not determined on the best course of action for them. Until they take action the order stands in full force and effect.

Portions facts as determined by this ruling of HEW are that local school district's "free choice plan is not operating fairly and effectively"; that within the school district, with an enrollment of 8,188 of whom 566 are negro, negro attended schools across racial lines and no white teachers taught in negro schools, and no negro teachers taught in white schools, as of 1963. (Editor's note: As of yesterday, 36 Negroes were enrolled in predominantly white schools.)

Robert L. Hamilton, prosident of the school system, told the Echo late yesterday he has not been sent a copy of the order and was unwilling to make any statement. Superintendent of Education Joe D. McCullough, advised that until the school attorney has studied the HEW order he would have no comment.

In view of possible court
action the commission also refrained from mailing any
informal progress payment to Stockstill. They did however approve two claim checks.

Washington a scardy-cat

North Viet opens door, we blink

When the North Vietnamese broke the cease fire on January 30, their major holiday, their New Year, through infiltration and otherwise attacking the major and not-so-major cities of South Vietnam, it left itself open to two simple counter attacks that apparently your federal administration doesn't recognize.

The lesser, and only a talking point through the ineffectual United Nations, revolves around merely the breaking of the cease fire by attacks whose planning obviously predated the "lowdown," so-and-so pledge at a cease fire. Certainly this country through all propaganda means should have played this up. Russia's supply of "dastardly" North Vietnam should have rung through United Nations halls. Our erstwhile friends such as Great Britain, Western Germany, Italy, Canada, New Zealand, the South American countries and righteous Scandinavians should have been put on the spot to be counted or not. At the least this act by the "Communist invaders" points up that we can give no assurance of cessation of bombing of North Vietnam irrespective of its announced agreement to start peace talks. (Sen. Robert Kennedy take note.)

What could have been of more immediate benefit to our 500,000 involved troops was simply for us to do what North Vietnam did. Attack its population centers. Blast Hanoi and Haiphong off the map. North Vietnam first made major civilian population enters a military target; minor ones have been since the war began - it IS a war.

In Korea we failed to heed Gen. Douglas MacArthur. "There is no substitute for victory," or rephrase it that "nothing succeeds like success."

Gangsters near

Sheriff needs local support

Newly elected Harrison County Sheriff Luther Patton has given indication that he will clean up the more flagrant "sin" spots in that county's "sin" area, Biloxi. We are still waiting with baited breath to see the "drive's" effectiveness. In the meantime we are more than a little worried our neighbor's gangsters may be moving in on us. To set the background, it didn't take District Attorney Boyce Holleman's speech about gangdom killings in Harrison county (Mitchell's for instance) and his reference to people in high places to make us alert to the danger. The New Orleans Times-Picayune once or twice a year has given front page stories of the beginnings, giving names, places and dates. And meanwhile the appropriate officials, DA Holleman, the ex-Harrison County Sheriffs, Biloxi Police and state officialdom haven't even blinked. Lots of evidence, from the unexpected people who are applying for beer licenses, to the skin games already unearthed (see Chamber of Commerce story on Page 1-A), to casual-but-not-too-usual remarks, to Jim Stevens and bigger wheels heelings, leads even the unobservant to think muscledom is trying to move in.

If the past is any indication of the future it's obvious Sheriff Patton has a hard job in front of him, all of which brings us back to Hancock County.

As we understand the unwritten rules of our sheriff Fred Curet, he will permit the church bazaar type of gambling, American Legion and Trapani's Bingo, the local game at the old drive-in theatre, presumably the local race track bookies, and similar violators and that's that. The professionals, the syndicate, the outsiders, nix. We will not try to explain this fine hairline distinction between things that technically are equally illegal. They are distinctions that have at least some merit and we think most of the people of Hancock County approve.

But along with the sheriff's efforts to stop the gambling "bad guys" is his, we think, determination to keep out the B-girls, the whores, the riff-raff of gangsterdom and the sinister boys in morose grey gloves. In this he needs local support. Support that takes risks. Support of you and you.

Give this support to him as long as he plows a straight furrow. It's important to you and you and your children and their children.

From capitol hill

By Rep. Walter Phillips

The last week of the Legislature the House finally had some bills on the calendar which provoked some debate, and which are of interest to this area.

One bill which did not cause a great deal of controversy was an act which extended to all of the Chancery Districts of the state a provision of the law which was in effect to the Chancery District composed of Harrison, Hancock and Stone Counties. This bill would allow the Chancellor to appoint a Master in Chancery to hear matters of a non-controversial nature. The power existed heretofore, but this bill merely enlarged the powers of the Chancellor, and enables our Chancery Court Judges to devote their attention and time to matters which are in litigation.

Another action taken by the House was the passage of a resolution to submit an amendment to the Constitution to the voters wherein the resident requirements are reduced from two years to one year. The resolution was amended on the House floor to eliminate reference to poll tax, which has already been outlawed by virtue of decisions of the United States Supreme Court, and an amendment which would remove from the Constitution a requirement that "Indians not taxed" were prohibited from voting. I voted in favor of both these amendments and on final passage of the resolution, as this provision was advocated by me in my platform last summer.

Probably the highlight of the week was the address by Gov. John Bell Williams to the Legislature in delivering his message relative to school legislation. Both houses of the legislature had been awaiting the governor's position relative to the enactment of a comprehensive school program. All members of both Houses had deemed as necessary some immediate action in upgrading the educational system of the state of Mississippi, particularly in the area of increased teachers' salaries. Governor Williams evidently used the program as advocated by the Mississippi Education Assn., as the basis for his recommendation. The Governor altered his program only slightly from the major portions of the MEA program. I am sure most of you have read the excerpts at least of the governor's speech, and the highlights containing his general recommendations. However, briefly the governor recommended a $1,000 increase in teacher's salaries, with an additional $300 to be paid by the state, this being an incentive payment which would be based upon the effort made by the local school districts. This feature differed slightly from the MEA version. He also advocated the reduction of the teacher unit from a (30) pupil teacher unit to a 27 pupil teacher unit, which would result in an increase of ten per cent of the teacher units which would be allocated to the school districts receiving payment under the minimum program. He did not include in his message the provision included in the MEA program that an additional one teacher for every eight teacher units would be allocated to the school districts.

Governor Williams also seized the bull by the horns so to speak and included in his message, together with his recommendations for increased expenditures, recommendations as to the painful task of raising the necessary monies to pay for these recommendations.

All in all the governor's message was well received by the Legislature and both Houses by their actions have indicated that they will go to work right away to put into effect those recommendations, or at least

By Sen. Martin Smith

As everyone is now well aware, Gov. John Bell Williams made his first major speech to the Legislature last week. It was devoted exclusively to the educational needs of the state, without touching on his highway program or other matters yet to be presented by him. It was my observation that an overwhelming majority of the members of the Senate considered his remarks courageous in view of the amount of tax dollars which will be required if the program is to be implemented. This same majority also felt that the Governor had assumed a position of leadership which our state must now have to cure the ills of our present educational system. By his own figures, the Governor called for in excess of $4 million new tax dollars just for the public school program.

He did suggest certain avenues or sources for obtaining this additional revenue. A revision of the state income tax laws and an increase of one-half cent in the state sales tax, together with a study of items now exempt from the tax, was mentioned. He also suggested the equalization of property assessments throughout the state to provide a better base for the ad valorem taxes which provide the local support for the program.

In addition to the $4 million new tax dollars on the state level, the governor's program calls for an increase in local contributions from the present $24 million to $32 million. This is the total for all 82 counties. The proportion to be contributed by each county, or school district, is to be determined by the same economic factor formula which is presently being used. This local contribution is ordinarily raised by ad valorem taxes levied upon real and personal property.

I believe that most Mississippians now realize the critical condition of our public school educational system. Those closest to education in our state have done an excellent job providing the members of the legislature, and the governor, with facts sufficient to convince them that the situation is not only urgent but to the point of being critical. The governor, after a thorough study of the problem, has called upon the Legislature and the people to shoulder the responsibility of providing the state of Mississippi with the educational requirements which we must have to keep our state in the economic mainstream of this nation. Are we willing to pay the price? Can we afford to do otherwise? I would appreciate your letting me know of your willingness to accept the responsibility which the governor has called upon us all to shoulder.

modifications thereof. Due to the press of business I was unable to remain in the House chamber very long on Wednesday afternoon, and consequently did not have an opportunity to sign the bills advocating the program as advanced by the governor. However all during the primary and general elections I maintained a steadfast position in favor of increased teachers' salaries and the improvement of our educational system in the State of Mississippi, and will lend my utmost support to this program. I look for the Education Committee and the Ways and Means Committee to buckle down to some serious work this week and for the subsequent weeks in an effort to obtain all of the facts available surrounding this legislation and these committees should be in a position to report to the House and Senate within two to four weeks.

Governor Williams also seized the bull by the horns so to speak and included in his message, together with his recommendations for increased expenditures, recommendations as to the painful task of raising the necessary monies to pay for these recommendations. All in all the governor's message was well received by the Legislature and both Houses by their actions have indicated that they will go to work right away to put into effect those recommendations, or at least

A Conservative View

by James J. Kilpatrick

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. - For a tombstone example of what the United Nations and its attorney were appointed as counsel for the defense, it is instructive to consider the U.N.'s record in regard to South West Africa. It is a record of fulfills, hypocrisy, and blatant disregard for law.

The General Assembly's most recent resolution, adopted on Jan. 27, is fully consonant with all that has gone before. Watching the Assembly in action, one is compelled to remark that those colonists follow apparently take themselves seriously. But who else does?

The January resolution begins by taking note of an earlier resolution by which the General Assembly "terminated South Africa's mandate over South West Africa." This was in October of 1966, nearly 16 months ago. It was a unilateral action on the Assembly's part, but on paper, at least, it appeared to be a formal order to South Africa: Get out.

Now, organizations that would be taken seriously ought not to issue orders they are incapable of enforcing. As events proved, the U.N. was utterly incapable of enforcing this one. In June of 1967, the Assembly demonstrated an ill-meant council to administer the affairs of South West Africa and appointed a gentleman named Constantin Stavropoulos as Governor General, in effect, of the country.

That was the last anyone has heard of the council or of Mr. Stavropoulos either. South Africa has not recognized the existence of these impotent dignitaries by so much as a flutter of Prime Minister Vorster's eyelid. The U.N. to this day has as much authority over South West Africa as a dog of Cub Scouts over the public affairs of South Chicago.

Nevertheless, the Assembly's January resolution maintains the fiction. The resolution is concerned primarily with condemning "the illegal arrest, deportation and trial at Pretoria of 37 South African citizens, as a flagrant violation of their rights." The Assembly demands that the defendants be set free.

What about all this? The 35 persons (not 37) who were put on trial in Pretoria were arrested last summer under South Africa's newly enacted Terrorism Bill. It is not denied that they were members and leaders of the South West Africa People's Organization (SWAPO). Neither is it denied that SWAPO's purpose is to take over the government of South West Africa by whatever means are handy.

The defendants were charged in a 41-page indictment with specific acts of terrorism and conspiracy. They were brought to Pretoria where they were arraigned in August before Mr. Justice Joseph Francis Ludor in the Transvaal Supreme Court. In this land of

Letters to the editor

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

May I add a sincere Amen to your editorial of last week.

I have long wanted to give expression to these same sentiments but refrained from doing so for fear of offending anybody. But now that you, after some hesitation, of your own, have finally said what needed to be said it is my fervent hope that there will be a new birth of civic pride in our community and that all of us will do our part in order that this new birth will be successful.

Perhaps the condition of our streets during the coming weeks will be in revising the tax structure to raise the needed additional revenue without unfairly burdening those of our people least able to pay more taxes. I would be less than honest with you if I did not point out the problems facing us. Growth and progress cost money paid by the people. We therefore need your ideas and advice about a program in which all of us will be involved.

It is because of my深感 concern with this blight on our community that I offer to serve on the Civic Beautification and Recreational Sub-Committee now being formed within the framework of Citizens Advisory Committee. It is my hope that through this sub-committee, working with other organizations, something can and will be done so that we will not have to continue to apologize to our out-of-towners who come to visit us.

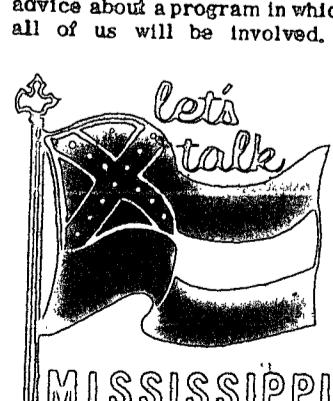

Sincerely yours,

RT. REV. JAMES J. HANNON

and to destroy bridges. Other evidence of violent conspiracy was drawn from the SWAPO novelist.

No country on earth would regard such activities as lawful. In most of Africa, terrorism caught in revolutionary conspiracy would be shot on sight. The example of the Congo comes readily to mind. But South Africa proceeded openly, under terms of its own law. In the end, 20 of the defendants were found guilty on the principal charge; three were convicted on a lesser charge, one was acquitted; one remains in a hospital.

Evidence against the defendants was overwhelming. The prosecution produced what the court described as a "breath-taking number" of machine guns, pistols, ammunition, and other weapons that had been seized in the defendants' hands. It was shown that the defendants had been trained in techniques of terrorism in Algeria, Ghana, Tanzania, and Zambia, under the tutelage of Chinese and Russian Communists.

Documentary evidence was introduced, linking the defendants to a "war plan" of May 10, 1966. The terrorists intended to "blow up the power station at Windhoek." They plotted to attack police stations at other localities, to kill white settlers, number of planes to fight in Vietnam.

It would also seem to commit the United States to a nuclear response in case full-scale fighting should be resumed in this bleak country. What many Americans don't realize is that the Korean War isn't really over. A truce was declared 15 years ago, but the negotiators at Panmunjom still haven't been able to agree upon peace terms.

The reliance on nuclear retaliation has left a critical shortage here of conventional weapons, which have been taken out of the Korean arsenals to supply the desperate needs in Vietnam. As a result, conventional arms couldn't be collected and loaded aboard the available fighter planes in time to stop the seizure of the Pueblo.

Other supplies, including arms, ammunition, vehicles, helicopters and spare parts, have also been diverted to Vietnam. At one time, the two U.S. divisions in Korea had barely enough helicopters between them for minimum peacetime needs. Planes and helicopters frequently are grounded and other equipment is laid up for lack of spare parts.

Vietnam comes first noon on Jan. 22, then departed without incident for Wonsan.

The following noon a North Korean subchaser circled the Pueblo three times, and on the last circle, signaled the spy ship to heave to or be fired upon. Three patrol boats joined the subchaser an hour later, and two circling MIG fighters appeared overhead. The confidential report then relates: "One attempt to board the Pueblo by armed personnel was rebuffed. We believe the North Koreans were prepared to fire and that they later did so, but with what effect we do not know. We also think that within a few minutes they again tried unsuccessfully to board the Pueblo. At about 1:30 p.m., the Pueblo was again directed to stop, and at 1:45 an attempt to board was apparently successful."

This is disputed by a confidential report which was sent to the White House, detailing the incident. The report, made available to this column, states that two fishing trawlers about 100 feet long circled the Pueblo about at sea last long enough for the maroon U.S. fags, less than 20 minutes away, to have flown to the rescue. But they simply weren't qualified to cope with the emergency.

Strong Russian navy

There was also some confusion over whether U.S. planes had authority to shoot down the North Korean subchaser without direct orders from Washington. Apparently, however, never arrived. U.S. forces can return fire if any hostile force which starts first. But planes armed with nuclear weapons cannot attack without direct orders from the President. Apparently the question arose as to whether the planes could fire without White House approval.

When the United States finally reacted, a naval task force was rushed into Korean waters. Yet the only reason the nuclear carrier Enterprise, frigate Thach, and two escort ships were available is that they happened to be in the Sea of Japan, en route to Vietnam.

In contrast, Russia had several naval vessels in the area, part of a powerful surface and submarine force that is guarding the shipping lanes from Vladivostok to Haiphong. The blunt truth is that the U.S. didn't have the ability to mount a meaningful naval operation in the region.

Although the weather is still dipping into the 30s, Brother Leo, St. Stanislaus principal, is readying what looks like one of the best spring athletic programs ever.

Brother William McCutts has been appointed to organize a tennis team and to start the ball bounces he has lined up the Mobile, Ala., Tennis Club pro, Novi Con, who will give an exhibition and lessons to tennis neophytes between 2 and 5 p.m. Saturday on the campus.

Brother Aquila is selected to head a golf program and is securing the school grounds for practice. He promised a report next week.

Most of football coach Buddy Pihota's charges are still involved in the race for state football honors but he has football bags cleaned and ready for the end of that season.

Movie flying tooTigertettes are terrors of District 8 tourney

All three county prep schools are competing this week for District 8 basketball honors - another step toward state recognition.

Bay High's girls, coached by Billy Sills, are rated the cream of the district in AA competition and are top seeded in the district tourney that opened last night at Harrison Central of Lyman. Purvis Christian is second overall, Forrest County third and Poplarville fourth in the girl's division.

The Tigertettes, in their first action at 7:30 p.m. Friday playing the winner of Poplarville-Harrison Central who are carried to each tonight.

Purvis Christian, winner of the recent Gulf Coast Conference Tournament, is in the bottom bracket and this tournament could easily wind up in another clash between the Tigertettes and the Purvis who must first get by Stoen and other Purvis on George County. They were scheduled to play Stoen last evening. Quarter finals in the bracket are at 5 p.m. Friday.

But Bob Cecareo's Rockin-

Chavs at St. Stanislaus have a different problem. They face Gulfport East, one of the toughest teams in the Big Eight Conference, at 8:45 p.m. tonight and if they expect that game they will have to take on the Big Eight champs, the Gulfport Commodores who were eliminated in overtime to beat Long Beach last night. But anything can happen on the road to the state championship - a 4-winner does. Last year Chavs did the trick upsetting Gulfport, again Big Eight champs, in Bay High's Tigertettes.

In the old-district tournament last week, Stanislaus upset Purvis Christian in the opening round of Picayune, lost to Gulfport by 10 points and then upset Picayune in the consolation game. Although leading in height the Rockins are a fighting team and cannot be counted out until the final bell. Bay High's Tigertettes were knocked out in first round play.

And last but definitely not least is the perennial threat for state championships, coach

Roland Luther's Hancock North Central Huskies who wound up in Jackson in 1963 and again in 1964.

The Huskies, winners of the Gulf Coast Conference Tournament this year, are top seeded in the District 8 Class A Tournament now in progress at Leakeville and go into action at 9:45 p.m. Friday against the winner of East Central-Pearl River Central who played last night.

The Hatchets, after going winless most of the season, have shown definite improvement during the last few weeks and should not be discounted. They play Purvis at 7:15 p.m. tonight.

Finals in all tournaments will be Saturday night.

As Carnival approaches the party tempo steps up accordingly. King cake parties have been weekly events and Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Juniors held their annual mock carnival ball Saturday night.

We're told that Rosary's new beau now sports a straw hat, an umbrella and answers to the name Ralph.

Trudy Michele and Judy Bent now reside in their very own apartment at 1331 Dunbar Ave. Trudy's mamma is on hand for chaperoning duties as the new "pad" is in her home.

Pretty Ruthie Engelhorn of Baton Rouge was the guest of her father, H.E. Engelhorn, last weekend.

Someone says Rex is still leading a "dog's life".

Dennis J., better known as "Dinkie", is getting some wild ideas of late.

Mary Jane Dees and Jetton attended the big Noreids ball when Mary Jane arrived here from Huntsville last weekend.

WE'RE FOR THE STREET BOND ISSUE

We, the employes of Gerry Lane Chevrolet whole heartedly support the Bay St. Louis STREET BOND ISSUE.

Industry, business or homemakers will not locate in an area that does not have streets. Very shortly I-10 will be open. The escalation in property values will be many times more than the small cost to put our streets back in shape. We are spending much more per year to repair our cars than the streets will cost. We know- that's our business!

We are proud of our community and even those of us who do not live in Bay St. Louis feel the economic pinch that the streets have put upon a lot of people. One family moving in or out makes a difference.

We realize that in the past some mistakes have been made. But the old saying "hindsight is better than foresight" certainly applies in our case. Now that we will have the help of the new advisory committee to our city affairs, we all say: "let bygones be bygones" and lend your voice and vote with ours for progress and prosperity.

WE URGE YOU TO JOIN US IN VOTING YES ON TUESDAY, MAR. 5, 1968.

Gerry Lane CHEVROLET, INC.

Old Echo files are of considerable fascination that we find we're more or less now than the news of days gone by in Hancock County. One such issue, finds came out of the 1926-37 bound volumes. Optimistic headlines proclaimed the Bay as the Riviera of America, raved about the building boom, adding solemnly that the many new buildings which included the modern Bay High School building, now Bay Junior High, the Western Hotel in whose luxuriant rooms nursing home patients reside at present. Breath and Cus Motors advertised a four-door fully equipped Dodge for the sum total of $970, butter was priced 87 cents per pound and a pork roast was 10 cents per pound.

Turning back the pages

Even as now, names made the news and in '26 the Echo sponsored a large contest allowing each contending so many votes for a new subscription sale. We've never heard of the young lady who won the first prize, a shiny black touring car, but Margaret Green, now Mrs. Waldo Otto, was presented a diamond ring as second place winner, Leah Munford, teacher known as "Dutch" was also in the competition. A list of teachers who had been employed to teach in the city school system included Mrs. E. E. Achern and Maccia Luvernia Sauter and Julia Blaisdell, all names still quite well known by today's readers. Charring in St. Joseph's annual play were Bea Smith and Gertrude Partridge and one heart rending talk related the desperate plight of several tiny tots lost adrift in a cliff. When the quivering youngsters were placed in their loving mamma's arms, they turned out to be Mark Solomon and Anna Beaman children. When asked if he recalled the desperate day Mark answered in the affirmative, but said in reality, he was hiding under the bed, not clinging to the cliffs.

Another page two story concerned the miraculous escape from death of Mr. and Mrs. Loder and their baby in arms, when their automobile was demolished by a train. When Mrs. Loder, "Doe", was asked about the episode, we discovered that reporters were not always accurate. She was quite painfully injured, and the train did all撞ed without a scratch. They also failed to mention that her sister Virginia (Mrs. Edgar Loder,) was a passenger in the car.

The execution of the year was the brutal double Devils Trap murder. Descriptions of the killer as he trampled on the stand, were rudely detailed to give one nightmares even 40 years later. The man apparently resembled a sort of Abominable Snowman of the swamps instead of the Alps, and he had lived more like an animal than a human. The jury, after hearing of his abandonment as a child, and the doctor's testimony that he had about the mentality of a two-year-old sentenced him to an institution for the mentally deficient. His handsome young defense attorney was one Bienville Adam.

Carnival festivities

And again we were carried away. Best get back to today and where's going on around town. The Krewe of Norelco are getting last minute touches to floats for the parade on Sunday. Monday night Club Lodge was the scene of the first annual dinner-dance past queen. Sorry we're not permitted to mention their names, nor those of other guests, so here merely state that a very large group of local ladies entered bubbly and some delicious steaks.

Several who were formerly patients in General have been transferred to other hospitals. Irma (Mrs. John) Lovens is in New Orleans; Edwin Mogabog is now in Gulfport and Roland Weston is in the VA of Biloxi.

Bob Thomas is in the process of having out-patient tests at Gehring, and it is with much pleasure that we report that Gordon Gleim, who has been in hospital for over six weeks after suffering a heart attack, is greatly improved and is now allowed to get out of bed and take some steps around his room. He's now at the VA in Biloxi.

Jenny and Frank Trapani are mere novitiate.

A very happy, even though belated birthday greeting goes to James Robert Deane received a button on his 18th birthday, Friday, Feb. 8.

Cleaning up fever

Several local merchants must have been psychic as they began painting-up, cleaning-up and fixing-up even before reading Mr. Glass' illustrated editorial of last week. Ralph's and both of Jerome's stores are gleaming with fresh paint and Frank Trapani continues adding improvements to the Koch-Koch.

Goody, goody

And instead of a COMPLAINT this week, we must rave about the improvement already evident in removing the greater garbage dump on Central Avenue. There will still be some who insist upon discarding refuse there, but if the dumping there is imposed on or becomes they'll be using other means to rid themselves of their trash.

Lawrence Jacob has Stella Gex's nursing talents for which to be grateful. He was under treatment for blood poisoning in one of the fingers on his right hand which really "joined up" his walking, until she suggested a most effective bandage for the wounded digit. Incidentally, he's now good as new again.

Happy birthday greetings go to Novella (Mrs. Nick) Michael, Joyce (Mrs. Jake) Jones and Adele Shaw. Novella cut her cake on Feb. 8, Joyce the following day and Adele's on Friday, Feb. 10.

Bob Lester of Club Lodge was most pleased over the news that Michael's Restaurants received their second write-up in the February issue of Food Times magazine.

comes when called. There's also the too-brief five-year period before animals are destroyed. Sometimes when scorpions have been bitten, it takes a while to locate the culprit, and if it has been put to sleep, the bite victim may be unnecessarily forced to take the long, painful rubles shot series.

The stork must consider Mary Lou and Gene Farry among his favorites—he's planning to bring their third bundle in in fifty years within the next few months.

Jeanne and Fred Lister hosted a lovely dinner Monday night. Guests and accompanying gourmet goodies were Oma Costella, Val Pons and Louise and Jim Wymer.

Full house

We thought Laurie Pointecker had it rough when everyone in her household except Miles and the bangles came down with the virus simultaneously several weeks ago. Now John Christensen is due sympathy visits from his daughters, Cheryl and Terry and the twins are all very much under the weather. We forgot to note as to the dog's state of health, however!

Adice Norelde note. The queen honored two during the elaborate ball. Her sister-in-law, Lillian Bell Morris of Baton Rouge, received her bouquet from the throne and her mother, Mrs. Eva T. Standiford's roses were delivered to her room at Hotel Beau Rivage.

Jimmy Varnell was among prize winners of the very successful spaghetti dinner at Catholic School on Sunday. He won $6.

Noll and John McLean's Carroll Avenue home was the scene of a triple celebration on Sunday, Feb. 18. The date was the occasion of Mrs. E.B. Broland's birthday, also that of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Debra Broland, and Cheryl and Larry Broland's wedding anniversary.

Winners

Kitt Campbell walked away with the $10 gift certificate and Gloria Spence the one for $10 at The Sea Chest first anniversary doings Saturday afternoon.

We received a lovely letter from Odette (Mrs. Maurice) Punkt who is still the owner of her adopted dog which was written up in a recent column. Odette's been having her problems with the Waveland doggy law too. As her note arrived just in time for this week's column, we think we've got to do our best to cannot and source. I hope you will help us in our efforts to keep the doggy laws reasonable. I know many people are supporting a bill of some kind, but I don't know if they are doing so because they are afraid of what might happen if the law is not changed. I hope you will support the bill if it is introduced.

We care

KNOW
WHEN OUR SHIP CAME IN?

In 1859.

That was the year an imaginative 26-year old, named George H Hartford, had a brilliant idea

The idea?

Buy tea direct from the Orient by the clipper shipload

Eliminate expensive in-between costs.

Sell directly to the public, at great savings... a small profit.

1859...that's when our ship came in

That was the beginning

That's when our founder showed he cared about people

Today, in keeping with that proud heritage,

A&P is still dedicated to bringing the most good food, to the most people

for the least amount of money

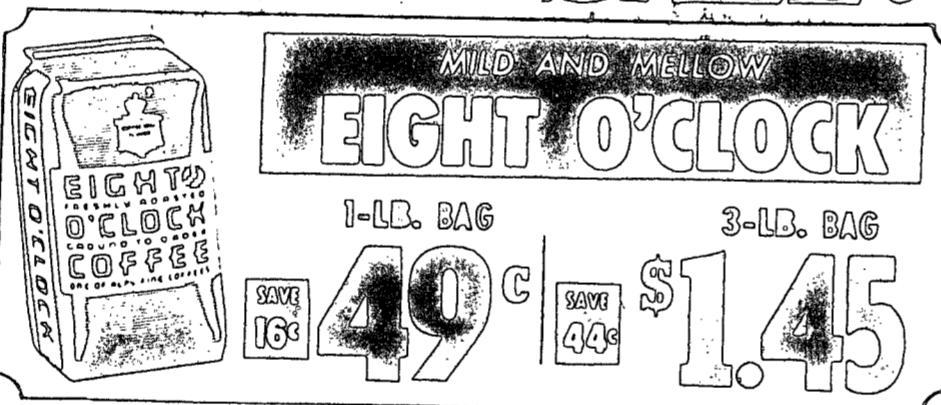

Today, more than a century later, we can honestly say, "WE CARE...about you."

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P?

It's one of many.

Herb Baron handled the transaction to my entire satisfaction and I can highly recommend him to all of my friends. I've purchased a number of automobiles, but Gerry Lams Chevrolet is the friendliest dealership I've ever done business with.

Is there any truth in the rumor that Crook has been going steady with Dixie?

A very happy birthday wish is on the way to Max Ganelon who cut his 16th cake on Saturday, Feb. 3.

Bud Bellamy has moved to Pecapoula and is now attending school there.

Butch Athanaleos is also in line for a birthday greeting. He'll be 18 on Sunday.

Freddie Lister, who spent every summer and almost every weekend here, first in his parents' T.S. Davis summer home, and more recently in their new home on the river is now in the Navy stationed aboard the U.S. Constitution.

His cousin Charles Kucera, also a frequent visitor joined the Air Force and is at Lockwood, AFB, Tex.

Who is Nancy Swords' flower sending secret admirer????? He even sees that she receives bouquets at Pearl River Junior College!
